Bond Defeat May Delay Start on Area College

Priority lists for building and campus construction at the various State Colleges, including proposed projects at planned South Bay and San Bernardino - Riverside Colleges, are now under review as a result of the defeat of Proposition 3 in the recent state-wide primary election, according to a statement by Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the California State Colleges.

"We feel that if only limited funds were available, we would be compelled, for the sake of the taxpayer and the student, to give highest priority to maximum capacity projects at existing colleges, thus enabling us to serve the largest number of students within the shortest possible time," Dumke stated. "This means that the newer and less developed colleges, together with those colleges in the planning stage, might well be delayed considerably."

"Our data indicate also that without the funds contemplated by the passage of the bond issue, we may be in a position of having to deny entrance to as many as 18,000 full time students throughout the state, whom we would otherwise be able to serve," the chancellor added.

'Little Company of Mary Hospital Wins LA Award

Little Company of Mary Hospital has been saluted with a Los Angeles Beautiful Community Award for outstanding landscaping and exterior housekeeping.

Award was presented at a "Review of Progress" luncheon in the Biltmore Hotel Ballroom by the citizen's organization which is sponsored by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and dedicated to the goal of a clean and beautiful community.

"Industry can be beautiful" is the theme of the community organization, and the landscaping of Little Company of Mary Hospital was declared to be an excellent example.

Co-chairmen Rose Navarro and C. M. Deasy, of the Los Angeles Beautiful Awards Committee, complimented Robert Eisleben, assistant administrator, who accepted the award in behalf of Mother Patricia, administrator of the hospital, for "an outstanding contribution to the growing beauty of the Los Angeles area."

Los Angeles beautiful, now 13 year old, was organized during a period of change in the community, when open spaces, orchards, and fields of flowers were rapidly disappearing from the Southland scene because of industrial and residential expansion.

"The response to this program to substitute new beauty for old has been tremendous and inspiring," said Mrs. Valley M. Knudsen, chairman of Los Angeles Beautiful. "On every side we have growing evidence that the modern city can have its own charm and beauty. We are very happy that the administration and employees of Little Company of Mary Hospital have joined in this movement."

Attending the luncheon with Eisleben were Doctors Matthew Romeo and John Wilson of the hospital medical staff, George Schneider, Don Reining, Sam Levy and James Visciglia of the hospital advisory board, and Charles Shartle, Torrance Planning Director.

SECOND TERM--Torrance City Councilman J. A. Beasley was installed in his second term as president of the Intercity Highway Commission Thursday night at the Pen and Quill Restaurant. An organization representing 13 area cities in the field of transportation, the commission has been influential in the growth of highway and freeway systems here. Shown above during

'No Trouble, So Far', Says Police Dept.

Six cavorting teenage girls, happy to be out of school, were hospitalized Friday when the car in which they were riding hit a power pole at the corner of Earl St. and Del Amo Blvd.

Taken to Little Company of Mary Hospital following the wreck were Judy Adams, 17, 1608 W. 218th St., driver of the vehicle, Jean Hall, 17, 25526 Cypress St., Lomita, Vickie Shaeffer, 17, 1307 W. 218th St., Linda A. Brisano, 15, 1643 W. 209th St., Leatrice Gold, 16, 1433 222nd St., and Valerie Neal, 16, 1334 W. 222nd St.

All of the youngsters were listed by hospital authorities as in "good" condition. Later two were treated for minor injuries while others were hospitalized for observation.

NO INCREASE

Torrance juvenile officers reported that, although the department had braced itself for a huge increase in the number of incidents involving youngsters following the close of school, that no such increase had occurred. Juvenile bureau personnel stated that, with the exception of a slight increase in the number of cases of shoplifting and petty theft, youngsters seemed to be staying out of trouble. "In all probability," one unnamed officer said, "the fact that kids are still excited with the idea of vacation and have so many new things to do, has to do with keeping them out of trouble. The difficulties will start when they get bored with vacation and go out looking for mischief to get into."

ALL SCHOOLS PARTICIPATE ...

Torrance District Expects 13,000 Will Enroll in 6-Week Summer Program

Over 10,000 elementary and 3,000 secondary students are expected to enroll in the 1962-63 Torrance summer school program to be held in the thirty three elementary and three high schools. The six-week session will begin June 25 and will end August 3.

Elementary students will attend classes for 240 minutes daily. Opening hours will vary from school to school. In the high schools, the school day will be 240 minutes in length where two 120-minute class periods will be held, beginning at approximately 8 a.m. Over 240 elementary and 99 secondary teachers in addition to 36 administrators were employed by the Torrance Board of Education for the summer session.

Board has specified that the instructional program during this session should be a continuation of the regular school program. Summer school provides an opportunity for all children of Torrance—those who have had difficulty with basic skills subjects where additional help is given in overcoming the deficiency and those who are academically talented where opportunity for enrichment, to delve more deeply into various subjects, is offered.

BASICS

Among the course offerings at the high schools in addition to basic subjects (such as English, mathematics, etc.) classes in driver education, accelerated reading, foreign language, home-making, general shop, science and social studies will be offered. Students may earn credit toward graduation requirements from all of these subjects.

As in the regular school program, a report card will be issued to elementary school students during the five weeks of summer school. High school students will receive reports at mid-term and at the end of the summer school.

Regular attendance to summer school is urged, both for the benefit derived by students and to finance the operating costs. The program is solely financed through the daily attendance of all pupils enrolled since the district receives $1 per day from state funds for elementary students and 32 cents per day for secondary students.

All students who reside in Torrance are eligible to enroll for summer school; this includes students who attend private or parochial schools during the regular school year. These students may register at the nearest school in their attendance area.

Transportation will not be provided for students during the summer session.

Board Meeting

Regular meeting of the Torrance School Board will be held tomorrow evening, starting at 7:30 p.m. in the school administrative office, 2335 Plaza Del Amo. Announcement was made by Dr. J. H. Hull, superintendent of schools.

100 Youngsters On 'Y' Caravans

The Torrance YMCA celebrated the start of school vacation by departing with 100 boys and girls on two caravan trips this weekend.

Girls, traveling via the new YMCA bus, will visit Sequoia and Yosemite National Parks with director Alpha Renz and staff.

Boys are visiting Lake Mead, Hoover Dam, Zion National Park, Glen Canyon Dam, and both rims of the Grand Canyon.

More adventurous ones will hike through the great canyon, stay overnight at Phantom Ranch.
